

TERMS AND CONDITIONS

This page consolidates the information and documents governing the provision of services by XP Shipping Logística Completa Ltda.

Services coordinated by XP Shipping may involve multiple modes of transportation and the participation of third parties, including but not limited to ocean carriers, airlines, airports, port and airport terminals, international agents, inland carriers and governmental authorities.

Operational conditions may vary depending on the service contracted, routing, country of origin and/or destination, and the commercial terms agreed upon.

General Terms and Conditions – GTC 2026

The General Terms and Conditions (GTC 2026) establish the overarching contractual framework applicable to all services rendered by XP Shipping, regardless of the transport mode.

 GTC 2026 – General Terms and Conditions \(PDF\)

In God we trust.

Service-Specific Terms and Conditions

Each service offered by XP Shipping is subject to specific Terms and Conditions, which define the applicable operational, documentary and commercial provisions according to the nature of the service.

The relevant document must be reviewed in accordance with the contracted service:

 Ocean Export – Terms and Conditions \(PDF\)

 Ocean Import – Terms and Conditions \(PDF\)

 Air Export – Terms and Conditions \(PDF\)

 Air Import – Terms and Conditions \(PDF\)

Demurrage, Detention, Storage and Use of Equipment

Charges related to container, cargo or equipment dwell time — including demurrage, detention, storage and other operational costs — are determined by third parties such as carriers, airlines, terminals, airports and competent authorities.

Applicable rules, free time allowances and charges vary according to the operation and are detailed in the specific Terms and Conditions applicable to each service.

Important Notice

The content of this page is provided for informational purposes only.

The terms, conditions and liabilities applicable to each shipment are those expressly set forth in the service-specific documents issued in connection with the contracted operation.

